

GUT

The Journal of The British Society of Gastroenterology

CONTENTS

Bile salts and fat absorption	A. M. DAWSON	page 1
Miliary Crohn's disease	K. W. HEATON, C. F. MCCARTHY, R. E. HORTON, J. S. CORNES, and A. E. READ	page 4
Eosinophilic granuloma of the gastro-intestinal tract	P. R. SALMON and J. W. PAULLEY	page 8
Permeability of the rectosigmoid mucosa to tritiated water in normal subjects and in patients with mild idiopathic ulcerative colitis	RUVEN LEVITAN and SIMCHA BRUDNO	page 15
Rectal reaction to injected ulcerative colitis leucocytes and plasma	SIDNEY FINK, WILLIAM J. DONNELLY, and VICTOR R. JABLOKOW	page 20
Histamine content of rectal mucosa in ulcerative colitis	VIBEKE BINDER and EIGILL HVIBERG	page 24
Inhibitory action of cholecystokinin on acid secretion from Heidenhain pouches induced by endogenous gastrin	JOHN C. BROWN and D. F. MAGEE	page 29
Effect of decreased levels of endogenous gastric tissue histamine on acid secretion and stress ulcer formation in the rat	WALLACE P. RITCHIE, JR., JOHN J. BREEN, DAVID I. GRIGG, and OWEN H. WANGENSTEEN	page 32
Histamine- and insulin-stimulated gastric acid secretion after selective and truncal vagotomy	S. BANK, I. N. MARKS, and J. H. LOUW	page 36
A preliminary study of the structure and function of enlarged parotid glands in chronic relapsing pancreatitis by sialography and biopsy methods	JOSE L. ALAPPATT and M. D. ANANTHACHARI	page 42
Serum bilirubin studies in patients with intermittent intrahepatic cholestasis	R. BRODERSEN and N. TYGSTRUP	page 46
Secretory response of the human pancreas to continuous intravenous infusion of secretin	J. G. BANWELL, B. E. NORTHAM, and W. T. COOKE	page 50
Incidence of perforated duodenal and gastric ulcer in Oxford	ROGER SANDERS	page 58
Mastocytosis (urticaria pigmentosa) of skin, stomach, and gut with malabsorption	STIG JARNUM and HUGH ZACHARIAE	page 64
Hookworm disease and duodenal ulceration	H.K. CHUTTANI, D. V. SABHARWAL, O. P. BHARDWAJ, and R. K. GOYAL	page 69
A general method for estimating the properties of antacids	M. H. PRITCHARD	page 73
Technique of retrograde colonic intubation and its initial application to high colonic biopsy	J. A. FOX and L. KREEL	page 77
Analysis of 400 examinations using the gastro-camera	LAURENCE M. BLENDIS, ALAN J. CAMERON, and GEORGE D. HADLEY	page 83
Phonoenterography: the recording and analysis of bowel sounds	W. C. WATSON and ELIZABETH C. KNOX	page 88