

to learn that the precise mechanism of bilirubin, encephalopathy remains unknown and no technique can be recommended which provides a reliable predictive index of the risk of bilirubin encephalopathy in the individual infant. All chapters critically review the current state of knowledge and define a perspective for further studies. The book will be an essential companion for those interested in bilirubin metabolism. For paediatricians it provides a comprehensive review on all aspects of kernicterus and its prevention, while for the internist the chapters on genetic disorders will be of particular interest.

As is perhaps invariable with a multiple author book, the majority of references date from 1983, or earlier though in some chapters references up to 1985 have been added in proof. In spite of this criticism this book should be available in all libraries used by gastroenterologists and paediatricians.
